

Respect for the dignity of people and peoples: What does this mean in practice?

General Principle A of the Code of Ethics of the Australian Psychological Society (APS, 2007) requires members to respect the dignity of people and peoples. In this paper I will examine the philosophical underpinnings of this expectation and its practical implications for members in their professional practice.